Several important conventions are to be held, to be followed by sharp camtools of tricksters, demagogues and politipaigns and elections in several States the cal thimbleriggers. They have not sold coming fall. That these will have an important bearing upon the national campaign will not be questioned. Local issues to a considerable extent will control the State elections, yet there will be a general expression which will signify, though not with certainty, the preference of voters for adopted to formulate expression of opinparty, and which element has the public ion, the cut-and-dried resolutions, the abconfidence. While, therefore, the State campaigns will not be a certain index of the public temper upon national questions, they will be of value in estimating the hands of the stock jobbers and manipulatstrength of parties for the succeeding year, for as Presidential elections draw near they exert a direct influence upon local campaigns, and tend to lessen the significance of purely local issues. As, for instance, the liquor question, which, when standing alone, is, in several States, an absorbing one, will lose importance in proportion as it draws near to a Presidential eampaign, in which party alignments are so sharply defined. Men realize that the local issue can be safely laid aside, to be taken up when greater ones are disposed of, and hence purely party rallies become more easy as the national campaign draws Already, therefore, the people are beginning to look about them and watch the the Courts that tolerate him. party preparations. They cannot fail to observe that the more agitated of the two great forces is the Democracy. It must formulate a new platform, for its leaders are divided in opinion as to the proper policy to be pursued. Indeed, as between those of the West and East, the disagreement is so great as to appear almost irreconcilable. Nor can it be merely bridged over. One or the other must absolutely yield, submit and consent to forcego cherished beliefs and hopes. Thus

A. N. TOWNE, General Manager. COMMISSIONER HUMPHREYS' SCHEDULE, sideration of the Board the following schedule of a reduction in first-class passen of the Board the following ger rates. He stated that it was not con plete, but could be amended before being finally acted upon. In it he had considered the difficulties of transportation, and had allowed a greater rate where it was expensive to move trains than where the roads were level and travel more profitable. The average decrease so far as he had gone was 23 per cent. He did not claim perfection for the schedule, but it illustrated his idea of reductions without the adoption of a uniform rate. The schedule was as follows:

SCHEDULE REDUCING AND REGULATING PIRST CLASS RAILROAD PASSENGER RATES.

THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY. Mr. Foote listened to the reading of the schedule, and then complained that the San Josquin valley had been left out. Mr. Humphreys said he had included every mile of road from Yuma to Redding. He pro-posed, by resolution, to declare that the rate between intermediate stations shall not exoeed those fixed by the schedule.

Mr. Carpenter thought the Board had power to declare all stepping places between the intermediate points stations. Then the the intermediate points stations. Then the resolution could go on and fix the rate as prescribed by the schedule.

Mr. Foote said he was not disposed to vote against any reduction of fares whatever. The most serious objection to the proposed plan was that it was incomplete, and if the railroad company should resist, the whole matter would be tied up in Court in the proposed form. After a decision had been rendered in favor of the Board, the work would all have to be done over again. Scott had a talk with Rafferty the same day; came back to Fugitt and said he thought he (Fugitt) was correct. Fugitt started home late in the evening, and on the road met Sheriff Heilsron and officer Jackson; talked with them about the case and came on home. The officers then met Scott, who told them that Rafferty knew of the murder. It is related that the officers then went to Rafferty scott, as Chief, is the right man in in this city hefore to large and delichted and in the evening manner and demanded of lated that the officers then went to Refferty in a very insulting manner and demanded of him what ke knew of the affair. Rafferty first thought to make a clean breast of it, but on account of the bulldozing action of the officers he concluded to let them find out what they could as best they knew how. This, coupled with fear of the Italians, is the supposed cause of Rafferty's long silence.

The preliminary examination of Troi has been sat for Wednesday, before Justice Tubbs. Holl & Buckley and N. Greene Curtis have been retained for the defense. Lenting will not have an examination partial. anniversary and picnic of the Sacramento Lentini will not have an examination until

The Chicago quotations represent Spring, while the New York figures are for Red Winter qualities.

BARLEY—Very little attention was given to the situation to day. There was no effort to do any spot trading on call, and it required considerable management to awaken any interest in future business. After much bantering, a seller 1883 contract was placed at 85c, when the market all of a sudden bounded up to 87c, almost immediately declining to 861c. By sample, spot Feed is quotable at 924695c, and Brewing at $100 to 21. Public sales footed up 2,100 tons, as follows:

PLAIN TALK!

We are aware that we are combating a prevailing prejudice of the profession and people when we assert that we can and do cure Diseases of the Blood with a vegetable remedy! But does it make anything less a fact simply because you do not believe it?

Turn to history and read the accounts of the discovery and application of steam, railroads, electricity, etc. Were not those who preached that it was possible to accomplish such grand results as we see realized today, pronounced crazy? And did not scientists say "Impossible?" We do not ask that you accept our word! We bring corroborating testimony. In short, we demonstrate, by living, reliable witnesses, that every word we say is true.

by living, reliable witnesses, that every word we say is true.

Ask yourself the question, Could men occupying the political, social and financial position these men do, afford to indorse those engaged in a work of deception and of fraud? Now, let them speak.

Every word we say in regard to our remedy is true, and the certificates we publish are from men of undoubted veracity.

for a Burglar, "Well, how's your eye?" said the grocery man to the bad boy, as he blew in with the wind on the day of the cyclone, and left the door open, "Say, shut that door. You want to blow everything out of the store? Had any more fights, protecting girls from dudes?"

"No everything is quiet so far. I guess

"No, everything is quiet so far. I guess since I have got a record as a fighter the boys will be careful who they insult when I am around. But I have had the hardest week I ever experienced, jerking soda for the Young Men's Christian Association," said the boy, as he pealed a banana.
"What do you mean, boy? Don't cast any reflections on such a noble association.

They don't drink, do they? "Drink! O, no! They don't drink anything intoxicating, but when it comes to soda they flood themselves. You know there has been a National Convention of delegates from all the Young Men's Chris-tian Associations of the whole country, about three hundred, here, and our store is right on the street, where they passed four times a day, and I never saw such appe-tites for soda. There has been one continual fizz in our store since Wednesday. The boss wanted me to play it on some of them by putting some brandy in with the per-fumery a few times, but I wouldn't do it. I guess a few weeks ago, before I had led a different life, I wouldn't had to be asked twice to play the game on anybody. But a man can buy seta of me and be perfectly safe. Of course, if a man winks when I ask him what flavor he wants, and says 'never mind,' I know enough to put in brandy. That is different. But I wouldn't smuggle it into a man for nothing. This Christian Association Convention has caused a coldness between pa and ma, though."

"How's that! Your pa isn't jealous, is he?" and the grocery man came around from behind the counter to get the latest gossip to retail to the hired girls who traded with him.

"Jealous nothin'," said the boy, as he took a few raisins out of a box. see, the delegates were shuffled out to all the church members to take care of, and they dealt two to ma, and she never told pa anything about it. They came to supper the first night, and pa didn't get home, so when they went to the Convention in the evening magave them a night key, and pa came home from the boxing match about 11 o'clock, and ma was asleep. Just as pa got most of his clothes off he heard somebody fumbling at the front door, and he thought it was burglars. Pa has got nerve enough when he is on the inside of the house and the burglars are on the outside. He opened a window and looked out, and saw two suspicious-looking characters trying to pick the lock with a skeleton key, and he picked up a new slop jar that ma had bought when we moved, cover and all, and dropped it down right between the two delegates. Gosh, if it had hit one of them there would have been the solemnest funeral you ever saw. Just as it struck they got the door opened and came in the hall, and the wind was blowing pretty hard and they thought a cyclone had taken the cupela off the house. They were talking about being miraculously saved, and trying to strike a match on their wet pants, when pa went to the head of the stairs and pushed over a wire stand filled with potted plants, which struck pretty near the delegates, and one of them said the house was coming down sure, and they better go into the cellar, and they went down and got behind the furnace. Pa called me up and wanted me to go down cellar and tell the burglars we were onto them, and for them to get out; but I wasn't very well, so pa locked his door and went to bed. I guess it must have been half an hour before pa's cold feet woke ma up, and then pa told her not to move for her life, cause there were two of the savagest-looking burglars that ever was, rumaging over see if he had got to drinking again, and then she got up and hid her oroide watch in her shoe, and her Ounalaska diamond the house. Ma smelled pa's breath to ear-rings in the Bible, where she said no burglar would ever find them, and pa and ma laid awake till daylight, and then pa said he wasn't afraid, and he and ma went

Their presence seems to make people better. Some boys down by the store were going to tie a can on a dog's tail yesterday, and somebody said, 'here comes the Christian Association,' and those bad boys let the dog go. They tried to find the dog after the crowd had got by, but the dog knew his business. Well, I must go down and charge the soda fountain for a picnic that is expected from the country."

"Hold on a minute," said the grocery man, as he wound a piece of brown paper around a cob, and stuck it in a syrup jug be had just filled for a customer, and then licked his fingers; "I want to ask you a question. What has caused you to change so from being bad? You were about as bad as they make 'em, up to a few weeks ago, and now you seem to have a soul, and sould now you seem to have a sou

"O, sugar, I don't want to tell," said the boy, as he blushed and wiggled around on one foot, and looked silly. "But if you won't laugh I will tell you. It is my girl that has made me good. It may be only temporary. If she goes back on me I may be tuff again, but if she continues to hold out faithful I shall be a daisy all the time. Say, did you ever love a girl?"

DR. E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN THEAToffend her. I don't think any man is fit to do business honestly, unless he is in love, or has been in love once. Now, I couldn't do anything wrong if I tried, because I should hear the still small voice of my girl saying to me, 'Hennery let up on that.' I slipped up on a banana peel yesterday and hurt myself, and I was just going to say something offul, and I could see my girl's bangs raise up, and there was a pained look in her face and a tear in her eye, and, by gosh, I just smiled and looked tickled until her hair went down and the smile came back again to her lips, though it hurt me like blazes when I struck the snile came back again to her lips, though it hurt me like blazes when I struck to sidewalk. I was telling pa about it, and sidewalk. I was telling pa about it, and
